New website makes giving to the Hidalgo Foundation easier

The Hidalgo Foundation of Bexar County has launched a revamped website, www.bexar.org/hidalgo, to highlight the ongoing projects of the nonprofit organization while providing a convenient method for charitable giving through a secure website.

The website provides extensive information and photos for donors and potential donors to keep up to date with the Foundation's three areas of focus — BiblioTech, the Children's Court and the ongoing restoration of the Bexar County Courthouse. The newly expanded website offers visitors the opportunity to learn more about these three focus areas and includes historical and pictorial information and photographs of each program highlighting project and program milestones.

"We are living in the age of technology and wanted to improve the way the Foundation communicates with the public about our work," said Tracy Wolff, president and founding board member of the Foundation.

Additional new features include social media elements and a portal for online donations.

Supporters, donors and the general public are invited to visit the new website to learn more about the efforts to preserve the history of Bexar County, the nation's first all-digital public library and how Bexar County Children's Court is committed to making a better world for all children in Bexar County.
